1.0 SCOPE

Telex refers to a real-time service while Gentex is a store and forward service. The current architecture providing the service was installed in 1979. This seemingly outdated means of communication still provides a secure form of data transmission with guaranteed delivery and in real time.

Telkom made a strategic decision to outsource the complete service to a 3rd party supplier. The outsourcing will include the network, end user terminals, network management and full customer support.

This RFP is in search of a vendor that will provide an IP driven solution that is lucrative and satisfies our local as well as International markets.
